Saiko Kismet

A small-scale social media app where users can play live games of dice against each other. Dice can either be played locally at one PC or online using room codes. Players can also generate random dice from a gacha machine and use these dice in their games. Built with node.js, MongoDB and socket.io. Currently still a work in progress.

Pokemetric!

Connects to the PokeAPI to fetch data on every pokemon, and lets you know how you stack up in comparison. Enter your height and/or weight, and enter a pokemon's name, or select a random pokemon from your favourite generation.
